

ROVER

2

It is the policy of The Rover Company to try to meet the requirements of a public which expects more from a motor car than is normally given by the mass-produced article. For this reason the user's suggestions and his opinion of the company's products are sought by the Market Research Department. If you, the purchaser of a new Rover 2000 car, have no objection to completing the questionnaire on the card attached and sending us your views about our products it would be very much appreciated.
